Investing in Quality for the Long-Term

US Stars Equity Fund

31 October 2026

Investment Objective

The US Stars Equity fund seeks to generate long term capital growth by investing in a concentrated portfolio of American companies with enduring competitive advantages and a long runway of growth.

We select companies based on our own fundamental research, taking a long-term investment horizon. We do not follow benchmarks and always invest in quality.

Quality for a company means strong competitive positions, operating in good and growing industries, the financial strength to weather adversity and strong management teams with track records of value creation.

We seek to identify undervalued quality growth companies where the scale or persistence of growth is underappreciated by the market and there is the prospect of significant capital growth.

US Stars (USS) Performance, USD

Portfolio Comment

The US Stars portfolio declined 3% in October, underperforming the broader market, which fell 1%. The month saw third quarter earnings and a busy macroeconomic calendar in the run-up to the US midterms. Higher interest rates and elevated expectations across the technology sector unwound some of the gains made in the previous month.

Eli Lilly (+23%) was the portfolio's best performer. Third-quarter sales rose by almost 40%, driven by a 53% surge in volumes. The company demonstrated its commanding position in obesity and diabetes treatments, with flagship franchises delivering impressive growth.

Visa (+15%) and Mastercard (+16%) also performed strongly. Both businesses have continued to deliver consistently good results, reporting another set of robust quarterly numbers despite concerns about slowing consumer spending. Revenue growth accelerated at both companies, supported by higher-value offerings such as cybersecurity, authentication and digital asset services.

On the weaker side, technology stocks experienced volatility as investors reassessed expectations across the AI ecosystem. Lam Research (-27%), Alphabet (-19%) and Arista Networks (-17%) were among the detractors, with sentiment coming under pressure amid news including Anthropic filing for its IPO.

We took advantage of the weakness in several technology holdings to add to our positions, including in Lam Research, Arista Networks and Amazon. To fund these purchases, we exited Lowe's following a partial recovery in its share price. We trimmed positions including Estée Lauder and Dexcom, both of which had performed relatively well over the preceding months.
